DIRECTORS' REPORT.

INDIANA STATE PRISON, }
Jeffersonville, Dec. 27, 1859. }

TO HIS EXCELLENCY A. P. WILLARD,
Governor of the State of Indiana :

In accordance with the provisions of the act of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, approved March 5th, 1857, we submit the following as our annual report of the progress and condition of the Prison :

The present Board of Directors met at the Prison on the 28th day of January, 1859, and was organized by the election of Samuel H. Buskirk president of the same.

We have made no material change in the officers of the Institution. The offices of Warden, Deputy Warden, Clerk, Moral Instructor and Physician, are held by the same gentlemen who held them at the time the Prison came under our supervision. Their experience and fidelity, and a proper regard for the interests of the Prison, required their continuation in office, and we have, therefore, made no removals. We have appointed an assistant keeper for the female department, and she has entered upon the discharge of her duties. We feel confident that this appointment will result in great good to the female convicts, and to the State. To place the females under the care of a male keeper would be manifestly improper ; and to leave them unemployed and unrestrained to work out their own devices, must necessarily result, as it always has resulted, in disorder and great mischief.

A few changes have been made by resignation and removal among the assistant keepers. The present number of assistant keepers, including the wall and night guards, is twenty-six. A large number of our convicts must be worked outside of the prison walls or remain unemployed, and for this reason we are compelled to employ more keepers than would otherwise be necessary, and this must be the case until we can make contracts for the labor of all our men within the prison walls.

We have carefully revised the by-laws, rules and regulations which were adopted by our predecessors for the government of the Prison, and have made such alterations and additions as the experience of the officers and present circumstances seemed to require. Although we have no doubt that future revisions may and will be necessary, we feel confident that a faithful observance, by all the officers of the Prison, of the rules as they now stand, will secure good order, health, and comfort to the inmates.

The report of the Warden, and the estimates and tables to which reference is therein made, will show your Excellency the buildings which have been erected, and the improvements which have been made here during the last year. We have endeavored to make only such improvements as were actually needed. Most of the work has been done by the convicts, under the direction and supervision of the Warden.

The specific appropriation of the last General Assembly has been principally expended for materials, which have been put up and used by our own labor.

Your Excellency will perceive that the materials and labor exceed by some thousands of dollars the amount appropriated by the Legislature for Prison improvements.

We have accomplished much, but much yet remains to be done if our Prison is ever to be made what the Prison of a great and prosperous State should be. Our crowded workshops and cell-houses, the large amount of men who are unemployed during the day, and who, for want of cells, sleep at night in companies in the halls; the large number who work outside, the necessity which exists for giving the convicts their meals together and not separately in their cells, these and many other facilities which our prison seems constructed to afford the convicts for contact and conference, all hopelessly prevent the maintenance of that strict discipline and cleanliness which are the pride of many Prisons, and which secure alike subordination and comfort.

We desire to earnestly urge upon your Excellency and the Legislature, the expediency, importance and even necessity of offering to the convicts some strong incentive other than the fear of punishment, to observe the rules and discipline of the prison. A just and proper discrimination should be made between the good and the bad. The good should be rewarded and vicious punished. We, therefore, recommend that the Legislature provide for a commutation of the sentence of those who observe the rules of the Prison, and are not subjected to punishment. Four days of each month should be deducted from the sentence, and the law should provide that subsequent bad conduct would forfeit certificates previously given for good conduct. A similar law has been in operation in several of the States for two or three years, and which has, in the opinion of the persons charged with the execution of the same, produced the most happy and salutary results, and has done more to improve the conduct of convicts than all the punishments that could be inflicted.

The true theory of prison discipline is, to govern by moral and not by brute force. The most hardened criminal may be influenced, if not subdued, by kindness and sympathy. It is true that the convicts have to be restrained of their liberty, and subjected occasionally to punishment, but by appealing to their better feelings, and rewarding the meritorious, the necessity for punishment will to a great extent cease.

The Inspectors of the Massachusetts State Prison in their last annual report, in speaking of the operation of a law similar to the one recommended, use the following language:

"The last few months of a prisoner's term, like the closing weeks of a long voyage, hang much the most heavily; when, therefore, a convict can thus shorten a year's term twelve days, a three years term seventy-two days, a five years term one hundred and twenty days, or a ten years term six hundred days, he has a strong incentive to good behavior. A few months' perseverance in the decorum thus induced, does much towards forming in the convict permanent habits of obedience and self control, and developing in him a more hopeful, and therefore more kindly and teachable disposition. We therefore consider this law as a very valuable addition to the legislation concerning the Prison."—Report 1858, p. 4.

It will be perceived upon examination of the tables accompanying this report, that during the last year there were in this prison three male convicts under fifteen years of age, seventy-six from fifteen to twenty, and fifteen females. Juvenile offenders should not be permitted to associate with older and more hardened criminals in prisons where the most thorough and rigid discipline can be maintained, and the evils resulting from this association are greatly increased in this prison, where it is impossible, from the crowded condition of the same, to maintain proper discipline and enforce our rules against conversation between the convicts. These facts conclusively demonstrate the imperative necessity there is for a House of Refuge in this State. The most of our sister States have these charitable and benevolent institutions, and Indiana should not be hindmost in her efforts to reform her young men, and provide homes for the orphans and destitute. Her other charitable institutions reflect great honor upon her benevolence and liberality. The framers of our present Constitution were duly impressed with the importance of this subject. The second section of the ninth article of the Constitution expressly declares that "The General Assembly shall provide Houses of Refuge for the correction and reformation of juvenile offenders." The Legislature has no discretion, the duty is imperative, and every principle of humanity demands its performance.

It has heretofore been the practice in this prison to permit the convicts to do the cooking and superintend the dining-room ; experience and observation have demonstrated that this was a very bad system ; great waste was committed, and the proper discipline and decorum were not observed at the meals of the convicts. We have appointed an officer whose duty it is to take the entire control of the provisions, to direct and superintend the cooking, and to regulate all matters connected with that department. From several months' experience, we are satisfied that the change will result in improving the discipline, increasing the comforts of the prisoners, and saving largely to the State, over and above the salary of the officer.

The completion of the school-room has greatly increased the facilities for imparting instruction, and added to the efficiency of that very important department of the prison.

Since the first of last October, we have had a large number of unemployed men that had to be guarded. We now require all such persons to remain in the school-room during the day, and receive instruction. Those who are employed during the day receive instruction at night.

For a more correct and detailed account of the workings of the school, we refer you to the report of the Moral Instructor.

The accompanying reports of the Warden, Moral Instructor and Physician will show your Excellency fully the internal condition of our prison ; it will be perceived that we have but three hundred and forty-four cells for the accommodation of five hundred and fifty-six convicts ; and that there are from one hundred and fifty to one hundred and seventy-five convicts unemployed, and who are consuming the earnings of the others. In the Spring when our contracts were made we had not shop-room, and we were officially notified that one hundred and fifty men would be detailed for the construction of a northern prison. We were thus, by two causes, prevented from contracting all our men. Since the erection of our shops, feeling certain that the men would not be needed for the northern prison, for some time at least, we have advertised in the leading papers for proposals for the labor of one hundred and fifty convicts. We have received no proposals as yet.

Notwithstanding our many difficulties, the Warden's report and the subjoined tables show that this year's earnings and receipts have exceeded our expenses by something over five thousand three hundred dollars. But this state of things, for obvious reasons, cannot continue ; our number of convicts is constantly increasing, and of course our number of idle men will increase in the same ratio unless we are able to make more contracts. No prison can support itself, unless all the men in health are employed at remunerative prices. We think the Warden's estimates are correct, and that unless something unforeseen prevents, there must be, when the Legislature next meets, a deficiency of some eight thousand or ten thousand dollars for the next year, which must be met by appropriation.

We need not assure your Excellency that we shall earnestly strive to "pay our way," and by vigilant economy to make the deficiency as small as possible.

The annual reports will show that we are carrying out, as best we can, the evident intention of the Legislature as shown by the act of 1857. This we shall continue to do, and, with the cooperation of the prison officers, we hope to be able to show that strict discipline and punishment for crime are consistent with intellectual and moral developement.

Respectfully submitted :

WARDEN'S REPORT.

TO MESSRS. BUSKIRK, BROWN AND COOKERLY,
Directors of the Indiana State Prison.

GENTLEMEN:—In pursuance of the law, I hereby submit to you my annual report of the condition of the prison from December 15, 1858, to December 15, 1859, inclusive.

The Legislature at its last session appropriated ten thousand dollars ($10,000) towards improvements, all of which has been drawn from the State Treasury and expended in making the following improvements:

A new shop, two stories high, seventy feet by forty has been erected in place of "the old blacksmith shop," and a story added to the cooper shop, one hundred and sixty feet by forty, which makes additional room over the cooper and blacksmith shops of two hundred and thirty feet. This is a valuable and necessary improvement, and affords a large amount of room for any kind of mechanical labor. A new store room of the necessary dimensions and capacity, for the safe-keeping of provisions, has also been built the past season; a new kitchen, the old one being too small, and the room occupied by it has been added to the dining room, which greatly needed it. In addition to the above, a new paint shop, for the accommodation of the wagon shop, and one also for the accommodation of Guy & Combs' chair shop, have also been built, as well as a new mill-house two stories high, and an addition of a story to what is called the "small chair shop" formerly occupied by Baird & Co. Various other improvements, such as a neat office in the center of the enclosure for the Deputy Warden, a watch tower on the main building for the use of a night guard, and the fitting up of a school-room. A new sewer for the better drainage of the prison, about nineteen hundred feet long has been commenced, but owing to the bad weather setting in, is not yet completed. This was very much needed, and when finished will furnish an excellent outlet for the filth and offal that would otherwise accumulate and impregnate the atmosphere with an unwholesome miasma.

These improvements are all valuable and absolutely essential, and have been made in pursuance of your order.

The estimate for making the same, amounts to $14,510 44, for further information in regard to the cost of which, I refer you to the statement marked T, as made out by Mr. John R. Monroe, Clerk of the prison.

By the statistics it will be seen that the number of convicts has increased to an alarming extent, there being at the present time five hundred and fifty-six against four hundred and eighty-four last year; this increase has occurred notwithstanding one hundred and fifteen have been discharged by expiration of sentence, fifty-seven by pardon from the Governor, ten have died, and eleven have escaped that have not been retaken; seven have also been remanded for new trials. For detailed information in regard to the number of convicts, &c., I refer you to tables from 1 to 19 inclusive.

There are at present employed by contractors within the prison walls, about two hundred and thirty convicts, and, during the past summer, about sixty were employed outside in making brick, which, together with about thirty others, are now employed in chopping wood, and other labor outside the prison enclosure. Quite a number are also employed in the kitchen, dining-room, cell-houses and other necessary work inside. The number unemployed at the present time is not less than one hundred and fifty, the most of whom attend school during the day, under the superintendence of the Moral Instructor.

Now that we have so much more shop-room, it is a source of deep regret that I have been unable thus far to contract the surplus hands, in order that the convicts might learn some useful mechanical occupation, and at the same time earn the expenses of keeping them. For the purpose of effecting this desirable object, in accordance with an order adopted at your last regular meeting, I gave notice through the Louisville, Indianapolis and Cincinnati papers for proposals for labor and shop-room, to be presented at the present meeting of the Board. I am sorry to say that none have been received.

Notwithstanding the great disadvantages we have labored under the past year, I am happy to say that the labor of the convicts and the improvements made have exceeded the expenses incurred, in the sum of $5,323 70. For monthly statements of moneys received and disbursed, I refer you to the interesting statistics furnished by the Clerk, marked A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M and N. For an account current of moneys received from the State, -buildings erected, repairs made, money paid discharged convicts, &c., I refer you to the statement marked S. For a full statement of assets and liabilities, I refer you to the paper marked R.

From the large number of convicts and the deficiency of cells, it is almost impossible to maintain that strictness of discipline that should always exist in a prison; while this is the case, however, it affords me pleasure to state that in the main, the discipline has been enforced rigidly and efficiently. For the accommodation of five hundred and fifty-six convicts there are but three hundred and forty-four cells. This at once demonstrates the great necessity of an additional cell-house; but unless the grounds of the prison are extended, they cannot be built. From the great increase in the number of convicts, it is obvious to every one that something must be done, either in the way of enlarging this prison, or the building of a new one in the northern part of the State. I give my opinion in favor of the latter, for with my experience of fourteen years connected with the prison, I am led to believe that more than four hundred convicts ought not to be in any one prison.

I had hoped, as I know you did, that after the passage of the providing for a new prison in the north by the last Legislature, we would have been relieved of at least one hundred and fifty convicts, as the bill provided that said number should be transferred to work upon it. But in this we were doomed to disappointment, either from a defect in the law or a dereliction of duty on the part of those who were appointed under the law to make the location, and contract for the building of the Prison.

From the number of convicts and the contracted state of the prison, together with the probable increase in the price of provisions, it is reasonable to suppose that it cannot be made to pay expenses during the ensuing year. From the best calculation I can make, I am compelled to fix the deficiency at about eight thousand dollars, ($8,000,) and the most rigid economy will have to be practiced in order to keep it from exceeding that amount. In view of this fact I cannot forego recommending to you the great necessity of economizing as much as possible in every department.

In conclusion, Gentlemen, permit me to say that I have received the efficient cooperation of all the officers connected with the prison in maintaining discipline and conducting its affairs generally.

Respectfully submitted :

MORAL INSTRUCTOR'S REPORT.

OFFICE OF MORAL INSTRUCTOR,
Indiana State Prison, Dec. 15, 1859. }

MESSRS. BUSKIRK, COOKERLY AND BROWN.

GENTLEMEN:—It becomes again my duty to lay before you another annual report of my labors in behalf of the unhappy inmates of this institution.

Permit me in the first place to refer to a fact which appears to be forgotten by some and ignored or ridiculed by others; the prison law of 1857 by creating the office and prescribing the duties of Moral Instructor, asserts, at least indirectly, that the Indiana penitentiary is henceforth not to be merely a place of punishment; that convicted felons are like other men, rational, intellectual, moral and immortal beings, that therefore, while such punitive measures are adopted as the strictest justice may demand, proper arrangements should be made with a view to their reformation and restoration to society. To the honor of our noble State this is what her statute book teaches us, and in this respect at least it is consistent with the teaching and practice of Him who "came to seek and save the lost," and of whom it was predicted "A bruised reed shall he not break and the smoking flax shall he not quench." How great is the responsibility of those to whom has been intrusted the management of our prison, the care, instruction and discipline of the prisoners! How weighty is the duty imposed upon us, not only by the law of God but by the law of the land! Should we forget our responsibility or neglect to discharge our duty, we should be unworthy of the trust reposed in us, and inflict a grievous wrong as well upon our country as upon those committed to our charge. Actuated by these principles, I have endeavored in my department to carry out the law in its spirit and integrity, and to this object I have devoted nearly all my time and attention for almost three years, and it gives me pleasure to say, with the entire and hearty concurrence of the Directors and Warden.

When I entered upon the duties of Moral Instructor, I was convinced that any system of prison discipline avowedly contemplating the reformation of the criminal must prove an utter failure unless the system laid down in the Bible be brought to bear upon his understanding, his conscience and his heart. The experience of three years has strengthened this conviction.

I can conceive of no plan to promote efficient moral discipline except the one prescribed by the Word of God. Sound christian instruction by the Moral Instructor, and the patient, dignified, habitual exercise of an intellectual and moral power by all the officers, these are the main details of the only system of prison management that can be reformatory and successful.

The means used to impart religious and secular knowledge are the same as formerly: the plain preaching of the Gospel, the Sunday-school and night school, lectures and the distribution of books. Our operations, however, are conducted on a much larger scale. Last year the average number attending the night school was fifty-five; this year the number is one hundred and twelve, together with ten teachers and a secretary; they are divided into ten classes or schools, each class being a school in itself, with its own teachers. The whole being under the supervision of myself assisted by Dr. Thomas, the Hospital Steward.

It is difficult to imagine any spectacle more deeply interesting than that presented by our school-room of an evening; more than a hundred men and boys wearing the prison garb, the badge of bondage and disgrace, yet seeming to forget in the ardor of study all their woes. All is order, docility and a desire to improve. To the eye almost every countenance presents the appearance of a mind engaged, while to the ear, the hum of voices bespeaking mental activity and life is sweeter than the music of the Æolian harp. The working of the school system is indeed delightful, and the improvement of the pupils solid and encouraging.

I do not by any means take to myself all the credit of the success of this school; much is due to the Warden for the cheering interest he has ever manifested in the work of instruction, and the readiness with which he has furnished us the necessary materials and facilities; Dr. Thomas also deserves my thanks for his steady cooperation both in the night school and Sunday-school.

For the greater part of last year I have preached twice on each Lord's day, besides teaching and superintending in the Sunday-school and delivering a practical exposition of a portion of scripture.

The Sunday-school numbers one hundred and thirty scholars, divided into seven classes, with teachers and secretary.

I am pleased to report that we have had in operation for some time past, a day school for the benefit of those, who, from any cause, may be unemployed. It promises to be attended with the best results to the habits of the prisoners themselves, as well as to the order and discipline of the prison.

The appropriation by the last Legislature has given us a good library. The books are of incalculable benefit, and the prisoners show their appreciation of the boon by the most diligent use of them. The library, however, is not as beneficial as it would be if the cells were lighted. I am happy to say that every cell is now supplied with a copy of the Word of God. In addition to the instruction referred to above, I have commenced a series of lectures on History, Geography, Astronomy and Geology. These lectures are delivered, some to the day school and some to the night school, and are of the simplest description and conveyed in the plainest language; my object is to enable my hearers to form some conception of the principal events in the history of the World, with their causes and effects, and to illustrate the glorious perfections of the Great Creator as seen in the material creation.

Our simple discourses on these subjects appear to have many good effects; they convey useful information and have a tendency to elevate the mind, but above all, they afford subjects for useful thought and rational and improving conversation.

The female convicts are now, by an order passed at your last meeting, permitted to attend divine service in the chapel; during the week I hold occasional meetings for more direct religious instruction. Their demeanor on such occasions, as well as in the chapel, is respectful and attentive. Although their general conduct is not all that could be desired, yet in this respect, since the appointment of the Matron, the improvement is quite perceptible. We have reason to hope from the Matron's constant supervision and the stricter discipline to which they are consequently subject, they will continue to improve.

Before concluding my report, I would respectfully ask you to consider the condition of the youths in this prison. Last year there were on the 15th of December, forty-eight persons under twenty years of age. There are now about eighty confined here. This is surely a startling fact, and one which ought to bring every citizen of the State to solemn reflection. Gentlemen, to carry out the spirit of the law, you are bound to do something for these children of wretchedness and crime, with the view of saving them from utter destruction. Why is it so often said, "These boys are the worst prisoners we have got?" "They are the hardest to manage, they are oftenest in mischief, and most frequently punished. Because of the natural buoyancy and plasticity of youth, which, soon forgetting the punishment and regardless of the disgrace, adapts itself to the penitentiary as if it were its natural sphere, and seldom aspires to or thinks of a higher one. The danger is very great indeed, that boys sent to the penitentiary for a year, are wrecked for life. They ought to be separated from the older convicts, and they ought to be taught useful trades, so that they may be able, if disposed, as many of them are, to earn an honest living when they leave the prison.

As the Legislature has failed to give us a House of Refuge for such offenders, the matter rests with you.

Respectfully submitted:

JAMES RUNCIE,
Moral Instructor.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT,
Indiana State Prison, Dec. 15, 1859. }

TO MESSRS. BUSKIRK, BROWN AND COOKERLY.

GENTS:—You are hereby furnished with a statement of the sickness and mortality which has taken place since the date of my last annual report, that is, from the 15th of December, 1858.

The number of convicts in this prison has varied but little from five hundred and fifty; the whole number admitted into the Hospital was 1450. Whole number of prescriptions 7658. Of this number ten have died during the year. The mortality will seem to be great without some explanation in regard to the cases. Three of the deaths were from typhoid fever; one from dysentery, which prevailed as an epidemic during the hot months of last summer; one died from injuries received whilst blasting rock, and the others were from old chronic diseases of long standing. And here let me remark upon the inhuman conduct of courts and juries sending men upon their last legs to die in prison; it is too much the case that our prison is converted into a poor-house for invalids, to get rid of whom some paltry crime is hatched, and thus the county gets rid of the expense of keeping them. One of the deaths referred to, was of a convict in the last stages of consumption, and who was after an examination sent into the Hospital to die in a month or two.

The number of applications for relief daily averages about forty. One of the causes of the number of applicants who daily present themselves, is a dissatisfaction with their work and a desire for a change, that their work does not agree with them. This desire is induced from becoming wearied with their present labor, and a removal to another shop will bring them to new scenes and new associations. The responsibility of the Physician is great under such circumstances, and requires nice discrimination that he may not err against humanity.

Some provision should be made for the sick female convicts ; there is an increase of this sex in our prison, and as many of them come here with loathsome diseases which require treatment that cannot be attended to properly as they are at present situated, I therefore recommend the building of a room adjacent to the present one, where the sick can be separated from the well, to be treated successfully.

The health of the prison is good at this time, the convicts are all comfortably clad and have sufficient bed-clothing.

In conclusion I would take this opportunity to express my thanks to the Warden and his assistants for active assistance in enforcing such rules and regulations as conduce to the health and comfort of the convict.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,

W. F. COLLUM,
Physician.

ASSISTANT KEEPER'S REPORT.

FEMALE DEPARTMENT,
Indiana State Prison, Dec. 15, 1859. }

MESSRS. BUSKIRK, COOKERLY AND BROWN.

GENTLEMEN:—According to custom I herewith furnish you a brief statement of the condition of this department of the prison.

The number of female convicts is much greater than at any former period in the history of the institution.

The general health of those committed to my care has been tolerably good. Some, by careless habits, vicious indulgences and excessive dissipation have injured their constitutions, and are now suffering the effects of such wretched courses. We hope, however, soon to have them restored to as good health as is possible for them, by strict attention to cleanliness, diet and the careful diligence of the Physician.

The deportment of the female prisoners and their obedience to prison rules has been generally satisfactory, with perhaps two or three exceptions. In the case of one, I have had to resort to punishment, (by order, and under the direction of the Warden,) by confinement in a dungeon. The same person has been punished slightly on several previous occasions, but without any lasting effect; she now seems resolved to do better.

I have had in operation for some time a school for instruction in the elementary branches of knowledge. I am pleased to report that the progress of my pupils in reading and writing is most encouraging.

The religious instruction is of the first importance. By an order passed at your last meeting, the females have had the privilege of attending divine service in the chapel; they have had, too, the advantage of occasional meetings for prayer during the week, conducted by the Moral Instructor, accompanied with religious instruction and conversation ; I am sorry to say, however, that I have not noticed those indications of a real reformation that I would be rejoiced to see.

I have not been able to enforce as strict discipline as is sometimes necessary, because of the want of a sufficient number of cells. We also need a suitable place for cooking, in order to enforce that rule No. 14, which says, "no prisoner shall go into the cook-house."

For statistical information I refer you to the report of the Clerk. I feel under great obligation to the Warden and Moral Instructor for their advice and assistance in the discharge of my duty.

MARY A. JOHNSON,
Assistant Keeper Female Department.
